

Please do not overturn New Jersey's strict "Do Not Call" list. Before this list was instituted, I would ask telemarketers not to call or to add me to the do not call list. The telemarketers would never follow this request. I believe it is my right to limit these types of nuisance calls. When I am interested in purchasing something I can do my own research. In fact I have never purchased any product or service as the result of a telemarketing call. Also I no longer make any pledges to organizations which solicit through these calls. The telemarketers would just be wasting their time by making calls to my home. Thank you for considering my view point, John Hartmann
